

WALDORF SCHOOL OF THE
PENINSULA

IN THE NEWS

Richtel, Matt. “A Silicon Valley School That Doesn't Compute.” New York Times October 22, 2011. A front-page article about Waldorf School of the Peninsula explores an apparent contradiction in Silicon Valley, the heart of new technology: why are so many high-tech executives sending their children to a school that doesn't use computers in the classroom from kindergarten through grade school?

http://www.nytimes.com/2011/10/23/technology/at-waldorf-school-in-silicon-valley-technology-can-wait.html?_r=1&sq=waldorf school&st=cse&scp=1&pagewanted=all

Simon, Greg. “Letter to the Editor re: A Silicon Valley School that Doesn't Compute.” The New York Times October 25, 2011

The Chief Domestic Policy Advisor to VP Gore and Waldorf parent responds to The New York Times article of October 22, 2011.

http://www.nytimes.com/2011/10/26/opinion/invitation-to-a-dialogue-computers-in-school.html?_r=2

Fost, Dan. “Tech gets a time-out.” San Francisco Magazine. March 2010

Why some Silicon Valley tech wizards are quietly raising their kids outside the digital landscape that their own industry calls childhood.

<http://www.modernluxury.com/san-francisco/story/tech-gets-time-out>

“Waldorf School of the Peninsula in California Succeeds with No- and Low-Tech Education.” Huffington Post December 12, 2011

More about WSP's approach to learning without computers.

http://www.huffingtonpost.com/2011/12/01/waldorf-school-of-the-pen_n_1123952.html

TELEVISION

NBC Nightly News with Brian Wilson, November 30, 2013

“The Waldorf Way: Silicon Valley School Eschews Technology.”

Rehima Ellis experiences the “Waldorf way” of engaging students in the classroom during her day-long visit to WSP.

http://dailynightly.nbcnews.com/_news/2011/11/30/9118340-the-waldorf-way-silicon-valley-school-eschews-technology

CBS News, December 5, 2011

“Silicon Valley School: No Computers in Classrooms.”

As teachers across the country turn to laptops and iPads as education tools, Waldorf School of the Peninsula in Silicon Valley, Calif., uses no computers in the classroom.

<http://www.cbsnews.com/video/watch/?id=7390629n&tag=mncol;lst;3>

WALDORF
SCHOOL OF THE
PENINSULA

CBS Morning News, December 5, 2011

“Silicon Valley School Bucks High-Tech Trend.”

CBS national news visits WSP.

http://www.cbsnews.com/8301-500172_162-57336624/silicon-valley-school-bucks-high-tech-trend/

CNN, March 13, 2012

“Silicon Valley School with No Computers.”

Dan Simon visits WSP to learn about our no-tech teaching and discover why it's attractive to high-tech parents.

<http://edition.cnn.com/video/data/2.0/video/tech/2012/03/13/dnt-simon-no-tech-schools.cnn.html>

OTHER

New York Times Schools for Tomorrow Conference, September 13, 2012

HEAD TO HEAD session. Waldorf School of the Peninsula's Lucy Valentine Wurtz participates in a "head-to-head" session with the C.O.O. of ePals (an education media company and the world's largest learning network) and debates the role of technology in the classroom. Moderated by Gerald Marzorati, Director of Editorial Development for the Times.

http://learning.blogs.nytimes.com/2012/09/13/live-stream-the-schools-for-tomorrow-conference/?_r=0

Chun, Heidi. I Love MV (Mountain View) Blog, March 28, 2012

Heidi Chun spends the afternoon at WSP visiting arts and Eurythmy classes.

<http://ilovemv.org/family/waldorf-school-of-the-peninsula/>

“Off-line skolen i Silicon Valley.” Harddisken, Denmark Public Radio, June 7, 2013

Danish radio host Henrik Fohns visits Waldorf School of the Peninsula to find out for himself what all the buzz is about. Start at around minute 11:30 to hear a WSP student, alumni, teacher and parent talk about our school (unless you speak Danish).

<http://www.dr.dk/P1/harddisken/Udsendelser/2013/06/07155836.htm>

<http://www.dr.dk/Nyheder/Viden/Tech/2013/06/07/162136.htm>

Earp, Jo. “Taking a slow-tech approach in the Silicon Valley.” Australia Teacher Magazine. Special Issue: Technology in Education. January 2013

See story about WSP starting on page 12.

http://issuu.com/tempomedia/docs/tie_-_term_1_20